

POPIA Policy

We find people. We protect them while we do it.

How Atang Tracing Services processes personal information under the Protection of Personal Information Act 4 of 2013 — the lawful basis we rely on, the safeguards we apply, and the rights every data subject has against us.

DOCUMENT CONTROL

RESPONSIBLE PARTY Atang Tracing Services (Pty) Ltd

DOCUMENT NO. MAN-202605-343

VERSION 1.0

EFFECTIVE DATE 28 May 2026

NEXT REVIEW May 2027

INFORMATION OFFICER Kamogelo Moisapula

CLASSIFICATION Public

WEBSITE www.atangts.co.za

CONTENTS

What this policy covers

01	Purpose
02	Scope
03	Definitions
04	Roles and accountability
05	The eight conditions for lawful processing
06	What we process, and why
07	Processing without consent
08	Special personal information and children
09	Information quality and further processing
10	Openness and how we identify ourselves
11	Security safeguards	STRICT
12	Operators and third parties
13	Cross-border transfers
14	Retention and destruction
15	Data subject rights and requests
16	Security compromise procedure	STRICT
17	Direct marketing
18	Training, monitoring and consequences
19	Complaints and review
20	Acknowledgement

We contact people who are not expecting to hear from us.

That is the whole reason this policy exists — and why section 10 sets out exactly how we identify ourselves.

01 Purpose

Atang Tracing Services exists to locate and verify people so that benefits owed to them can be paid. Doing that means handling sensitive personal information about people who did not ask us to contact them. This policy sets out how we comply with the Protection of Personal Information Act 4 of 2013 ("POPIA") while doing that work, and what anyone affected by it is entitled to expect from us.

02 Scope

This policy applies to all personal information processed by Atang, in any form, and binds every director, employee, contractor, intern and operator acting for us. It covers case data processed on a client's instruction as well as our own employee, supplier and client records.

03 Definitions

Personal information	Information relating to an identifiable living natural person, or an identifiable existing juristic person
Special personal information	Information on religious or philosophical beliefs, race or ethnic origin, trade union membership, political persuasion, health or sex life, biometrics, or criminal behaviour
Processing	Any operation on personal information — collecting, storing, using, sharing, altering, destroying
Data subject	The person to whom the personal information relates
Responsible party	The party that determines the purpose and means of processing. For case work this is usually our client; for our own records it is Atang
Operator	A party that processes personal information for a responsible party under a written mandate
Information Officer	The person accountable for POPIA and PAIA compliance, registered with the Information Regulator
Security compromise	Unauthorised access to, or acquisition of, personal information — what is commonly called a data breach

04 Roles and accountability

ROLE	ACCOUNTABLE FOR
Information Officer	Overall POPIA and PAIA compliance, registration with the Regulator, data subject requests, breach reporting
Compliance Officer	Day-to-day monitoring, quality checks, audits, incident register
Case Management	Lawful intake, data minimisation at cleansing, accurate records
Operations	Identifying themselves correctly on every contact, logging every action, verifying before reporting
Everyone	Following this policy, and reporting a suspected compromise within one hour

05 The eight conditions for lawful processing

1 • Accountability A named person carries responsibility for compliance, not a committee.	2 • Processing limitation Lawful, minimal, and justified by a basis in section 11.
3 • Purpose specification Collected for the specific tracing instruction, and nothing else.	4 • Further processing Any later use must be compatible with the original purpose.
5 • Information quality Complete, accurate and current — verified before it is reported.	6 • Openness We say who we are, who instructed us, and why we are calling.
7 • Security safeguards Technical and organisational measures against loss and misuse.	8 • Data subject participation Access, correction and deletion on request, free of obstruction.

06 What we process, and why

PURPOSE	Locating and verifying members, beneficiaries, dependants, claimants and former employees so a benefit or claim can be concluded
DATA SUBJECTS	Fund members, beneficiaries and dependants; claimants; estates; former employees; client representatives; our employees and suppliers
CATEGORIES	Names and identity numbers; contact details and addresses; date of birth; life status and date of death; employment history; banking details for verification only; relationship and dependency information; correspondence and call logs
SOURCES	The instructing client's records; the data subject; lawfully accessible public and commercial data sources; field verification in the community
RECIPIENTS	The instructing client; operators under written agreement; professional advisers; regulators, courts or law enforcement where the law requires it

We collect banking details only to verify that a payment will reach the right person. We do not collect, hold or transmit card PINs, banking passwords or one-time codes — ever, and no employee may ask for them.

07 Processing without consent

Tracing usually begins before we have any way of contacting the person concerned, so consent cannot be the basis for the first stage of the work. POPIA does not require consent in every case. We rely on the following grounds in section 11(1):

- Section 11(1)(d) — processing is necessary to pursue the legitimate interests of the data subject, whose unclaimed benefit cannot be paid until they are found.
- Section 11(1)(f) — processing is necessary for the legitimate interests of the responsible party or a third party to whom the information is supplied, namely the fund or administrator discharging its obligation to pay.
- Section 11(1)(a) — consent, where we have reached the data subject and are asking them to confirm or supply further information.

Where a data subject objects on reasonable grounds under section 11(3), we stop processing their information for that purpose unless the law requires otherwise, and we tell the instructing client.

08 Special personal information and children

We do not seek special personal information as part of a trace. Where health, biometric or similar information reaches us incidentally — for example a death certificate or a medical confirmation supporting a dependant's claim — it is processed only where section 27 or 32 of POPIA permits it, restricted to the people working the case, and not repeated in reporting unless the client's decision requires it.

Beneficiary work frequently involves minor children. Personal information of a child is processed only where section 35 allows it, typically because it is necessary to establish or exercise a right or obligation in law — such as a minor dependant's entitlement to a benefit. We deal with the competent person representing the child and record who that person is.

09 Information quality and further processing

- Nothing is reported as confirmed until it has been verified against an independent source.
- Reports distinguish between what is confirmed, what is indicative and what remains open.
- Sources that returned nothing are recorded too, so work is not repeated and a negative finding can be relied on.
- Case data is never reused for a different client, a different portfolio or any commercial purpose of our own.
- We do not build, sell, rent or share a database of traced individuals.

10 Openness and how we identify ourselves

A person who receives an unexpected call about money has every reason to be suspicious. On every contact, our staff must:

Give a full name

And state that they are calling from Atang Tracing Services.

Name the instructing body

The fund or organisation that asked us to make contact.

Offer a callback

On the numbers published on our website, not a number sent by message.

Never ask for money or codes

No fee, deposit or release charge; no PIN, password or OTP.

Guidance for members and beneficiaries on verifying a call is published on our website, and a director will confirm any call on request.

11 Security safeguards STRICT

Section 19 of POPIA requires appropriate, reasonable technical and organisational measures. Ours are set out in full in our Information Security Policy. In summary:

- Access on a least-privilege, need-to-know basis — case data is reachable only by the people working that case.
- Multi-factor authentication on all systems, and a mandatory password manager.
- Encryption of all transfers of personal information; no identity numbers, addresses or phone numbers in plain text.
- Every action logged with a user stamp, so an auditor can reconstruct who did what and when.
- Company-issued, encrypted devices with remote wipe; no case data on personal devices.
- Clean desk policy, locked cabinets for physical files, and escorted visitors.
- No case communication over personal email or WhatsApp.

12 Operators and third parties

Where we act as an operator for a client, we process personal information only on that client's documented instruction and treat it as confidential. Where we appoint an operator ourselves, that party must sign a written agreement before receiving any data, meet our minimum security standards, process only as instructed, and notify us immediately of any compromise. Operator arrangements are reviewed when the engagement changes.

13 Cross-border transfers

Our work is carried out in South Africa and we do not routinely transfer personal information outside the country. Where a service provider processes data abroad, we transfer only on a basis permitted by section 72 of POPIA — comparable protection under law or binding agreement, the data subject's consent, or necessity for the conclusion or performance of a contract in their interest.

14 Retention and destruction

Personal information is kept only as long as there is a lawful reason to keep it. Case data is retained for the duration of the engagement and any reporting or audit obligation attached to it, and for any period another law prescribes, then returned to the client or destroyed. Retention periods are agreed in writing with the client before the engagement starts.

Destruction is carried out so that the information cannot be reconstructed — secure deletion for electronic records, shredding for paper. Destruction is recorded.

15 Data subject rights and requests

Be told what we hold

Confirmation of whether we hold your information, and a record or description of it.

Correct or delete

Correction or deletion of information that is inaccurate, irrelevant, excessive or out of date.

Object

Objection on reasonable grounds to processing under section 11(3).

Withdraw consent

Where processing rests on consent, withdrawal at any time.

Complain

A complaint to the Information Regulator about our handling of your information.

Civil relief

Civil proceedings for interference with the protection of your personal information.

Requests are made on the prescribed POPIA form and sent to the Information Officer at info@atangts.co.za. We acknowledge in writing, verify the requester's identity before disclosing anything, and respond within a reasonable period. There is no charge for a correction, deletion or objection; reproduction costs may apply to an access request. Where the information sits in a client's portfolio, we notify the client and coordinate the response.

16 Security compromise procedure STRICT

- 01 Anyone who suspects a compromise — a lost device, a suspicious email, an unauthorised access, or someone using our name — reports it to the Information Officer or Compliance Officer within one hour. Failing to report is itself a violation.
- 02 The incident is logged, contained and assessed within two hours of being reported.
- 03 Where personal information has been accessed or acquired without authorisation, we notify the Information Regulator and every affected data subject as soon as reasonably possible after discovery, as section 22 requires.
- 04 Notification to data subjects is in writing and states what happened, the possible consequences, what we are doing about it, and what they can do to protect themselves.
- 05 The instructing client is informed the same day where their portfolio is affected.
- 06 A post-incident review is completed, and this policy and our security measures are revisited.

17 Direct marketing

We do not use traced personal information for direct marketing, and we do not market to data subjects we encounter through case work. Contact with a data subject is always about the specific benefit or claim that prompted the trace.

18 Training, monitoring and consequences

Every person who joins Atang receives POPIA and information security training before touching case data, with annual refreshers and quarterly awareness updates. The Compliance Officer monitors adherence through quality checks and audits. A breach of this policy is a disciplinary matter, and may result in a written warning, suspension, termination or legal action, depending on severity and intent.

19 Complaints and review

Raise a concern with the Information Officer first — most matters are resolved directly. You may also complain to the Information Regulator (South Africa), JD House, 27 Stiemens Street, Braamfontein, Johannesburg, 2001, telephone 010 023 5200, at complaints.IR@inforegulator.org.za. This policy is reviewed annually, and after any material change in our processing, our systems or the law.

20 Acknowledgement

I confirm that I have read and understood this POPIA Policy, that I understand my obligations under it, and that I agree to comply with it in full. I understand that a breach is a disciplinary matter.

FULL NAME

JOB TITLE

SIGNATURE

DATE

Return the signed copy to the Information Officer. Signed acknowledgements are retained for the duration of employment.

RELATED DOCUMENTS

PAIA Manual	ATS-202605-955
Information Security Policy	MAN-202605-789
SOP — Case Management & Operations	MAN-202605-580

INFORMATION OFFICER

Kamogelo Moisapula

info@atangts.co.za · 071 823 0454
No. 23 Section U Ext, Mamelodi West, 0101, Pretoria